1 INTRODUCTION

2 The People of San Francisco have the right to require their elected officials to fulfill the 3 duties of office with integrity. The California Constitution proclaims that "[a]ll political power is 4 inherent in the People," (Cal. Const. art. II § 1), and it gives San Franciscans plenary authority to 5 decide the manner by which their City officers are appointed or elected – and when they can be 6 removed (id., art. XI § 5(b)). In adopting Charter section 15.105, San Francisco voters established a 7 process by which elected officials may be removed from office when they commit wrongdoing 8 related to the office or engage in conduct that falls below "the standard of decency, good faith and 9 right action impliedly required of all public officers." (S.F. Charter § 15.105.) This removal 10 process reflects the will of the People and their judgment that, at times, the public good requires 11 removing an elected official from office. While Sheriff Mirkarimi has contended elsewhere that 12 these proceedings somehow undermine the democratic process, nothing could be further from the 13 truth. When San Francisco voters democratically elected Sheriff Mirkarimi, they did not know and 14 could not know that he would later engage in the behavior that led to these official misconduct 15 proceedings. That very problem is the reason why San Francisco voters democratically enacted the 16 Charter removal provisions. The Ethics Commission advances democratic rule and fulfills its 17 Charter mandate by following the removal process democratically established by the People 18 themselves.

19 The Charter removal process begins with the Mayor, who has filed charges of official 20 misconduct against Sheriff Mirkarimi. Under the Charter, the next step of the process requires the 21 Ethics Commission to hold an administrative hearing on the charges. The Charter directs the 22 Commission as follows:

23 The Ethics Commission shall hold a hearing not less than five days after the 24 filing of written charges. After the hearing, the Ethics Commission shall 25 transmit the full record of the hearing to the Board of Supervisors with a 26 recommendation as to whether the charges should be sustained.

27 (S.F. Charter § 15.105.) After receiving the Commission's recommendation, the Board of 28 Supervisors ("Board") must make the final removal decision. If a three-fourths supermajority (nine out of eleven) sustains the charges, then Sheriff Mirkarimi will be removed from office.

1 While the Charter entrusts the Mayor with the initial charging decision and the Board with 2 the ultimate removal decision, the Ethics Commission plays a critical intermediate role in the 3 process in two respects. First, the Commission serves the essential function of compiling the "full 4 record" necessary to inform the Board's deliberation. Indeed, this role is so important that the 5 Charter emphasizes that the Board cannot make its decision until after it has reviewed the "complete 6 record" developed by the Commission. Second, the Commission makes a recommendation to the 7 Board. Although this recommendation is not binding, it is likely to have significant persuasive 8 value because of the Commission's expertise in government ethics and its institutional role as an 9 enforcer of ethics laws and protector of the public's trust in government.

10 In determining how to conduct its hearing and reach its recommendation, the Ethics 11 Commission should draw on its experience as the City body with specialized knowledge and 12 expertise in matters of government ethics. Because the Commission already has established 13 procedures for hearings to adjudicate charges of governmental misconduct, and because those 14 procedures ensure a thorough adjudicative process, the Commission should largely follow them 15 here. While the Commission's role in this removal proceeding is different—the Commission must 16 hold a hearing and make a recommendation, not adjudicate a charge and impose penalties—the 17 hearing required by the Charter is the same type of evidentiary hearing on alleged misconduct that 18 the Commission would typically handle.

19 Nothing about this hearing necessitates adopting extraordinary procedures. Like other 20 Ethics hearings, this is not a criminal proceeding. The Mayor is seeking to remove Sheriff 21 Mirkarimi from his office, not punish him or impose any criminal sanction. Neither the Charter nor 22 any other law requires the Commission to adopt a "beyond a reasonable doubt" standard of proof or 23 to make its recommendation by unanimous vote. The Charter simply requires the Commission to 24 hold a hearing, compile a record, and vote to make a recommendation as to whether to sustain the 25 charges against Sheriff Mirkarimi. The Commission can fulfill those duties by following its own 26 established processes, which are similar to those that other agencies generally use in administrative 27 hearings.

1 In making its recommendation to the Board of Supervisors, the Commission should be 2 guided by the fundamental purpose of this Charter process: protecting the integrity of San 3 Francisco government. Sheriff Mirkarimi has argued that he did not commit official misconduct 4 because he was only a Supervisor and Sheriff-Elect—and not yet the Sheriff—when he committed 5 the crime to which he later pled guilty. That is wrong. The Charter process is designed to remove 6 officials who commit serious misconduct after they are elected, not only those who commit 7 misconduct after they take the oath of office. Indeed, the removal process is especially important 8 during the period that runs from an official’s election through his or her first six months in office, 9 because voters are not able to initiate a recall during this time. Furthermore, the office of Sheriff is 10 not just any elective office. The Sheriff is the chief executive of San Francisco’s second-largest law 11 enforcement agency and the City’s only elected law enforcement officer. It was only after he was 12 elected to that office that Sheriff Mirkarimi engaged in a series of acts—including at least one 13 crime—that led to the Mayor’s charges of official misconduct.

14 San Francisco voters did not have before them information about Sheriff Mirkarimi’s 15 conduct or his conviction and sentence at the time they elected him. Sheriff Mirkarimi, the official 16 responsible for the lawful imprisonment of prisoners in San Francisco, committed—by his own 17 admission—the crime of false imprisonment. The Sheriff coordinates with other San Francisco 18 criminal justice agencies to make decisions that directly impact San Francisco probationers—but 19 now, by virtue of the statutorily mandated domestic violence sentence to which he agreed, Sheriff 20 Mirkarimi is himself a probationer and will remain so for three of the four years (in the parlance of 21 these proceedings, a supermajority) of his term of office. And these are merely the undisputed facts 22 about Sheriff Mirkarimi’s conduct after the election. The evidence at the hearing will show even 23 more troubling conduct by Sheriff Mirkarimi, including his active or passive participation in 24 attempting to dissuade witnesses to a crime from speaking truthfully with officers of the San 25 Francisco Police Department—the largest law enforcement agency in San Francisco and one with 26 which the Sheriff must constantly cooperate. This, too, all happened after the election, unknowable 27 to the voters at the critical moment when they cast their ballots.
28

1 The need for an effective removal process, with appropriate checks and balances, is 2 particularly strong in circumstances such as this when the voters have no direct means of removing 3 an official who has proven himself unfit for office. The Commission is uniquely suited to play a 4 role in this process. The Commission's oversight of the conduct of government officials is 5 fundamental to the integrity of the democratic process in San Francisco. As the Board of 6 Supervisors explained when it proposed a comprehensive ethics reform measure in 2003, "[f]aith in 7 government is the cornerstone of democracy," and imposing high ethical standards on City officials 8 "is a vital step towards keeping democracy alive and well in San Francisco." (Proponent's 9 Argument In Favor Of Proposition E, November 2003 Voter Information Pamphlet at 84, available 10 at http://sfpl4.sfpl.org/pdf/main/gic/elections/November4_2003.pdf.) Protecting the public faith in 11 government is the purpose of this proceeding and the reason why Sheriff Mirkarimi ultimately 12 should be removed from the office of Sheriff.

QUESTIONS PRESENTED AND SHORT ANSWERS

Question 1. What is the applicable standard of proof?

The Charter has assigned this removal proceeding to the Ethics Commission for an administrative hearing, not to the District Attorney for prosecution in criminal court. The preponderance of the evidence standard applies here, just as it does in all other administrative hearings charged to the Ethics Commission. (See Discussion Section I.B.1, infra.)

Question 2. On what type of evidence may the Commission rely?

As the Commission does in its enforcement proceedings, the Commission may rely on the same type of evidence that is admissible under Ethics Commission Regulation XII.A.3., which incorporates the provisions of the California Administrative Procedures Act, Gov. Code § 11513. This includes evidence of the facts about Sheriff Mirkarimi's acts and omissions, as well as testimony from subject matter experts that will assist the Commission in determining the relationship between those acts and omissions and the duties of Sheriff. (See Discussion Section I.B.2, infra.)

Question 3. Can the Sheriff engage in official misconduct subjecting him to removal from office prior to the time that he held that office?

Yes. Charter section 15.105(e) provides the controlling definition of official misconduct. That definition applies to acts by "public officers." An officer-elect is a public officer, not a private citizen, as the Ethics Commission itself informed Supervisor-Elect Mirkarimi in a 2004 advice letter, and as Mr. Mirkarimi's own conduct as Sheriff-Elect bears out. Further, Section 15.105 neither explicitly nor implicitly restricts official misconduct to acts committed by public officials after taking the oath of office, nor does it bar removal from current office based on acts of misconduct committed while a public official was in a prior office. If such restrictions are to be added to Section 15.105, only the voters may do so. Finally, in light of the evidence in this case, the legal discussion of this timing question becomes merely academic. As a sitting Supervisor and after his election as Sheriff –but shortly before he was sworn in – Sheriff Mirkarimi committed a crime of domestic violence against his wife, threatened to use his official power for personal advantage in a child custody dispute, and interfered with another law enforcement agency's investigation of his crime. And, it was not until March 2012 – two months after the Sheriff was sworn in – that the Sheriff admitted that he committed the crime of falsely imprisoning his wife, and was sentenced to three years' probation. His March 2012 guilty plea and the institutional consequences of having a freshly convicted criminal and probationer as Sheriff are also a central component of the misconduct charges. (See Discussion Section II.A, infra.)

Question 4. Does "official misconduct" under the Charter require that the alleged misconduct relate to the Sheriff's duties? If so, does the conduct alleged relate to Mr. Mirkarimi's duties as Sheriff?

(a) No, the Charter does not require that the official misconduct relate to Mr. Mirkarimi's duties as Sheriff. The definition of official misconduct in

1 Section 15.105(e) has two different prongs: (1) "any wrongful behavior by a 2 public officer in relation to the duties of his or her office, willful in its 3 character" and (2) "conduct that falls below the standard of decency, good 4 faith and right action impliedly required of all public officers." Under the 5 first prong, the official misconduct would have to relate to Mr. Mirkarimi's 6 duties as Sheriff and/or Supervisor, since he held each position at some point 7 during the acts in question. Under the second prong, the misconduct would 8 have to relate not to particular duties of office, but instead to the commonly 9 accepted standards of professional conduct for a sheriff and/or a member of a 10 legislative body. (See Discussion Section II.B, infra.)

11 (b) Although it is not required by the Charter, in this case the alleged 12 misconduct charges amply relate to the duties of the Sheriff, including his 13 duty to enforce the law, his duty to maintain lawful custody of prisoners, and 14 his duty to discipline deputies and staff for their misconduct. Moreover, 15 public officers who administer criminal justice, like the Sheriff, have a 16 heightened duty to obey the laws and maintain their integrity, regardless of 17 whether they are acting in their personal or their official capacity. (See 18 Background Section I and Discussion Section II.B, infra.)

19 Question 5. Is the Sheriff's plea to the misdemeanor charge of false imprisonment 20 sufficient to sustain a finding of official misconduct?

21 Yes. The Sheriff's guilty plea to false imprisonment and concomitant 22 agreement to a domestic violence sentence that includes three years of 23 probation to be supervised by the San Francisco Adult Probation Department 24 are in themselves sufficient to sustain a finding of official misconduct. But 25 even if the Commissioners conclude that these undisputed facts establish 26 official misconduct as a matter of law, the Commission still must hold a 27 hearing, create a full record in regard to all of the charges, and make a 28 recommendation to the Board. That is its charge under the Charter. (See Discussion Sections II.A-C, infra.)

29 Question 6. Must the Ethics Commission act unanimously relating to this matter?

30 No. The Charter charges the Ethics Commission to conduct an ethics hearing 31 and make a recommendation, not to sit as a criminal jury. Charter section 32 4.104(b) provides the rule for this Commission: "Unless otherwise required 33 by this Charter, the affirmative vote of a majority of the members shall be 34 required for the approval of any matter. . . ." Although Charter section 35 15.105(a) imposes a supermajority requirement on the Board's ultimate 36 decision whether to remove the Sheriff, the Charter does not place any such 37 special voting requirement on the Ethics Commission in determining its 38 recommendation to the Board. Accordingly, under the Charter, a simple majority vote applies. (See Discussion Section I.B.4, infra.)

39 Question 7. Even if all the charges alleged against the Sheriff are true, should the 40 Commission dismiss the matter because the charges do not constitute official misconduct?

41 No. At the threshold, the Commission does not have the authority under the 42 Charter to dismiss these removal proceedings. While the Commission may 43 decide to recommend against sustaining the official misconduct charges, it 44 has a mandatory duty under the Charter to hold a hearing and transmit a full 45 record to the Board. But even if the Charter authorized a motion to dismiss,

1 dismissal would not be appropriate here. There can be no question that the 2 facts stated in the charges—committing crimes after being elected as head of 3 a law enforcement agency, interfering with another agency’s investigation, 4 and being sentenced to three years of probation concurrent with a four-year 5 term in an office whose duties include taking probationers into custody, just 6 to name a few—constitute official misconduct. (See Discussion Section II.C, 7 infra.)

BACKGROUND¹

2 On November 8, 2011, San Francisco voters elected Ross Mirkarimi, an incumbent member 3 of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, to a four-year term as Sheriff. The San Francisco
4 Director of Elections certified the results of the election on November 22; the Board of Supervisors 5 declared the results on December 6; and Mr. Mirkarimi was sworn in to his new position and 6 assumed the full duties of the Office of Sheriff on January 8, 2012.

7 In the post-election period between November 8 and January 8, Mr. Mirkarimi continued to 8 serve as Supervisor. The evidence will show that Supervisor Mirkarimi also took on new duties in 9 his official capacity as Sheriff-Elect to prepare to assume office. The office of Sheriff has far-10 ranging responsibilities under the San Francisco Charter and state law. Under Charter section 11 6.105, the duties of the Sheriff include keeping the County jails, receiving all prisoners, and 12 executing the orders and legal processes issued by the California courts, the San Francisco Board of 13 Supervisors, or by any legally authorized department or commission. Under California Government 14 Code section 26600, the Sheriff is also responsible for preserving the peace, “and to accomplish this 15 object may sponsor, supervise, or participate in any project of crime prevention, rehabilitation of 16 persons previously convicted of crime, or the suppression of delinquency.” And, of course, every 17 day the Sheriff leads the several hundred members of the San Francisco Sheriff’s Department by 18 setting its policies, overseeing its functions and ensuring members’ proper conduct.

19 As the incoming Sheriff, Mr. Mirkarimi participated in a series of transition meetings and 20 briefings with incumbent Sheriff Michael Hennessey and Sheriff’s Department command staff.
21 These meetings began on November 22—the very day the Director of Elections certified Mr.
22 Mirkarimi's election, and still two weeks before the Board of Supervisors officially declared the 23 results—and there were at least eight of them within the first three weeks alone. At these meetings, 24 Captains and other personnel in the Sheriff’s Department made presentations to the Sheriff-Elect on 25 a range of subject matter areas in which the Sheriff’s Department is involved, including jail

26 ¹ This brief draws from the Written Charges of Official Misconduct against Sheriff 27 Mirkarimi and references additional information gathered in the City Attorney’s investigation. The 28 Mayor expects to stipulate to or prove all these facts at the hearing.

1 management, the lawful confinement of prisoners, enforcing stay-away orders and other court
2 processes, probation, rehabilitation, and crime prevention. The participants at these meetings 3 understood that Mr. Mirkarimi was present in his capacity as the incoming Sheriff, not as a private 4 citizen. In addition, Sheriff-Elect Mirkarimi attended at least two confidential disciplinary hearings 5 regarding alleged misconduct by Sheriff's Department personnel to prepare him for his own role as 6 the final decisionmaker in disciplinary matters. He also attended monthly Department management 7 meetings in November and December 2011 as Sheriff-Elect and made public appearances as the 8 Sheriff-Elect at departmental events, including the public ceremony celebrating the official 9 demolition of the old jail facility that took place on January 4, 2012.

10 On January 8, 2012, Sheriff-Elect Mirkarimi left his seat on the Board of Supervisors to be 11 sworn in as Sheriff. That swearing-in ceremony occurred just eight days after the Sheriff-Elect had 12 criminally assaulted his wife and threatened to use the power of his office to gain custody of their 13 son, and just four days after the police opened an investigation into that incident and the Sheriff-14 Elect's campaign manager, Linnette Peralta Haynes, encouraged a witness to lie to the police and 15 send them away.

16 I. ALLEGATIONS OF MISCONDUCT

17 Beginning with a well-publicized domestic dispute on New Year's Eve 2011, a series of 18 events unfolded that culminated in the Mayor's decision to charge Sheriff Mirkarimi with official 19 misconduct, suspend him from office, and initiate these removal proceedings.

20 A. Sheriff Mirkarimi Commits Domestic Violence

21 On or about December 31, 2011, during a domestic dispute, the Sheriff physically assaulted 22 his wife, Eliana Lopez, grabbing her with such force that he bruised her upper right arm. He also 23 restrained Ms. Lopez and violated her personal liberty.

24 The police opened an investigation into the matter on January 4, 2012. On January 13, on 25 the basis of that investigation, the District Attorney initiated a criminal complaint against Sheriff 26 Mirkarimi and charged him with three violations of the California Penal Code: (1) section 273.5(a), 27 for unlawfully inflicting a corporal injury on his wife; (2) section 273a(b), for endangering the 28

1 person and health of his two-year-old son; and (3) section 136.1(b)(1), for attempting to prevent and 2 dissuade Ms. Lopez from making a report of the incident to law enforcement.

3 B. Sheriff Mirkarimi Threatens To Use His Power As A Public Official Against 4 His Wife In Family Court

5 At or around the time of the violent incident with his wife on December 31, Sheriff 6 Mirkarimi told Ms. Lopez that he was “very powerful” and could therefore take custody of their 7 two-year-old child if she attempted to end their relationship. The most reasonable interpretation of 8 Sheriff Mirkarimi’s statement to Ms. Lopez is that Sheriff Mirkarimi was threatening to use the 9 powers and stature conferred by his official positions as Supervisor and incoming Sheriff to obtain 10 advantage.

11 C. Sheriff Mirkarimi Participates In Attempts To Persuade A Witness To Lie And 12 Destroy Evidence During The Ensuing Police Investigation

13 On January 1, 2012, Ms. Lopez told her friend and neighbor, Ivory Madison, about Sheriff 14 Mirkarimi's actions the prior day. Ms. Lopez made a videotape to document her injury and describe 15 the events. On January 4, after a further personal conversation with Ms. Lopez, Ms. Madison 16 telephoned the San Francisco Police Department to find out what they would do if they received a 17 report of domestic violence. During the course of the conversation, Ms. Madison identified the 18 perpetrator of domestic violence and the victim, and the officer followed the required procedure and 19 initiated a criminal investigation.

20 Upon learning that the police were investigating his actions, Sheriff Mirkarimi engaged in 21 an attempted cover-up. Specifically, Ms. Lopez and Linnette Peralta Haynes, Sheriff Mirkarimi’s 22 campaign manager, acting on behalf of Sheriff Mirkarimi, as his agents, or in coordination with 23 him, spoke to Ms. Madison directly and also left messages with her husband, Abe Mertens, 24 attempting to dissuade her from talking to the police. Ms. Haynes encouraged Ms. Madison to lie to 25 the police, and Ms. Lopez asked her to destroy the evidence on the videotape.

26 D. On January 8, 2012, Sheriff Mirkarimi Makes Public Statements That Conflict
27 With The Sheriff’s Duty To Enforce Domestic Violence Laws

28 Immediately after being sworn in as Sheriff on January 8, 2012, Sheriff Mirkarimi made public statements to the effect that the December 31, 2011 incident was a “private” and “family

1 matter.” These public statements were contrary to the duty of the Sheriff to treat domestic violence
2 as a crime, not as a private or family matter. These public statements also damaged the credibility 3 and effectiveness of the Sheriff’s Department regarding domestic violence prevention, treatment, 4 and corrections. Sheriff’s deputies can request and must enforce emergency protective orders in 5 domestic violence cases. The Office of the Sheriff regularly interacts with local programs for 6 perpetrators and victims of domestic violence. This interaction includes providing grant funding to 7 one or more rehabilitation programs for perpetrators of domestic violence. The Sheriff’s Office also 8 provides recovery programs for persons in jail who are victims of domestic violence.

9 E. On March 12, 2012, Sheriff Mirkarimi Agrees To A Plea Deal Admitting 10 Criminal Wrongdoing And A Criminal Sentence Incompatible With His Duties

11 On March 12, 2012, after months of the Sheriff’s denials, a negotiated plea agreement was 12 announced. Under the agreement, the District Attorney amended the criminal complaint to add a 13 fourth charge against the Sheriff: that he committed misdemeanor false imprisonment in violation of 14 Penal Code section 236 during the December 31, 2011 incident. Sheriff Mirkarimi pleaded guilty to 15 this new charge and agreed to accept a sentence of one day in jail, three years’ probation, 52 weeks 16 of domestic violence counseling, community service and a fine. (A three year term of probation 17 and a year’s participation in a rehabilitation program are the minimum allowable conditions for 18 domestic violence probationers. (See Penal Code section 1203.097.)) On March 19, 2012, Sheriff 19 Mirkarimi was formally sentenced. Under his sentence of probation , he is and will remain subject 20 to the control of local correctional authorities for three of the four years that he was elected to serve 21 as Sheriff. His conviction of a crime of false imprisonment is subject to discovery in criminal 22 proceedings in which he might testify as a law enforcement officer. He is subject to a stay-away 23 order that prohibits him from carrying a firearm. His conduct has fallen well below the standard of 24 conduct that all enforcement officers are expected to follow—including the hundreds of deputies 25 whom he must supervise. And he has been convicted of a crime of domestic violence, as head of an 26 agency that is intimately involved in domestic violence prevention, treatment, and punishment. His 27 conviction and sentence impact his fitness for office and his ability to perform the duties of Sheriff.
28

1 F. Sheriff Mirkarimi's Conduct From December 31, 2011 Through March 19,
2 2012 Falls Below The Standard Expected Of A Holder Of Public Office

3 Sheriff Mirkarimi's entire course of conduct has dishonored the office of Supervisor and the 4 office of the Sheriff. Sheriff Mirkarimi's conduct has particularly undermined the authority, 5 dignity, and mission of the Sheriff's Department. Sheriff Mirkarimi's course of conduct is 6 incompatible with holding the office of Sheriff and falls below the level of ethical conduct expected 7 of all public officials, let alone the office of the Sheriff of the City and County of San Francisco.

8 II. THE MAYOR SUSPENDS SHERIFF MIRKARIMI AND INITIATES REMOVAL
9 PROCEEDINGS

10 On March 19, 2012, the same day that Sheriff Mirkarimi was officially sentenced, the 11 Mayor gave Sheriff Mirkarimi 24 hours to resign or face suspension for official misconduct. The 12 Sheriff refused to resign. On March 21, 2012, the Mayor initiated the suspension and removal 13 process set forth in Section 15.105(a) of the San Francisco Charter by serving the Sheriff with 14 written charges of official misconduct and transmitting the charges to the Ethics Commission and 15 the Board of Supervisors.

16 III. THE SAN FRANCISCO CHARTER PROVISIONS GOVERNING SUSPENSION, 17 REMOVAL, AND DISQUALIFICATION OF ELECTED OFFICERS FOR 18 OFFICIAL MISCONDUCT

19 The removal of elected officials who violate the public trust is a core municipal function 20 addressed by the San Francisco Charter. The Charter states the foundational tenet that "[p]ublic 21 office is a public trust." (S.F. Charter § 15.103; see also S.F. Camp. & Gov'tal Conduct Code § 22 3.200.) When an official breaks that trust by committing official misconduct, Section 15.105(a) of 23 the Charter provides a mechanism for the official's removal.

24 The voters added current Section 15.105(a) to the San Francisco Charter in 1993, at the 25 same time they created the Ethics Commission.² That provision vests the Mayor with the power to 26 suspend and charge an elective officer with official misconduct, but the actual power of removal

27 ² The Ethics Commission is designed to be an apolitical body. Its five members are 28 appointed by five different authorities, and each member serves only one six-year term. (S.F.
Charter § 15.100.) During their tenure, Ethics Commissioners may not hold any other City office, accept gifts from campaign consultants, or participate in any way in local political campaigns. (Id.
§ 15.100(a)-(c).)

1 lies with the Board of Supervisors. (Ibid.) Once the Mayor files written charges of misconduct, the 2 suspended officer, who may be represented by counsel, is entitled to a hearing on the misconduct 3 charges before the Ethics Commission. The Commission, in turn, forwards the full transcript of the 4 hearing to the Board of Supervisors and makes a recommendation whether the charges should be 5 sustained. On the basis of these materials and their own deliberations, Board members vote whether 6 to sustain the charges. The accused officer will be removed if nine or more of the Board members
7 vote to sustain. (Id.)

8 In 1995, the voters added the current definition of the term “official misconduct:”³

9 Official misconduct means any wrongful behavior by a public officer in 10 relation to the duties of his or her office, willful in its character, including any 11 failure, refusal or neglect of an officer to perform any duty enjoined on him 12 or her by law, or conduct that falls below the standard of decency, good faith 13 and right action impliedly required of all public officers and including any 14 violation of a specific conflict of interest or governmental ethics law. When 15 any City law provides that a violation of the law constitutes or is deemed 16 official misconduct, the conduct is covered by this definition and may subject 17 the person to discipline and/or removal from office. (S.F. Charter Section 18 15.105(e).)

19 Prior to 1995, the Charter provided for removal for “official misconduct” but did not define it.

20 IV. SHERIFF MIRKARIMI FILES AN UNSUCCESSFUL ACTION IN SUPERIOR 21 COURT TO STOP THESE CHARTER REMOVAL PROCEEDINGS

22 On March 27, 2012, Sheriff Mirkarimi filed a petition in Superior Court seeking a writ of 23 mandate to reinstate him as Sheriff, a writ of prohibition to stop the Charter removal proceedings, 24 and a declaration that the “decency, good faith and right action” clause of Section 15.105(e) is 25 unconstitutionally vague and cannot be enforced against him. The Sheriff also asked the Court to 26 issue a mandatory injunction against the City requiring it to pay him during his suspension. On 27 April 20, 2012, Judge Kahn of the San Francisco considered and denied each of these requests.
28

DISCUSSION

I. THE RULES GOVERNING ADMINISTRATIVE HEARINGS, NOT CRIMINAL TRIALS, APPLY TO THESE ETHICS COMMISSION PROCEEDINGS.

A. Charter Section 15.105(a) Directs The Ethics Commission To Hold An Administrative Hearing, Transmit The Full Record Of The Hearing To The Board of Supervisors, And Make A Recommendation.

Charter Section 15.105 governs suspension and removal from office. The Charter dedicates the responsibility to suspend and file charges against an official who has committed misconduct to the Mayor, the City's elected chief executive. It assigns the task of determining whether to sustain the charges and remove the official from office to the Board of Supervisors, the City's elected legislative body. Between suspension and removal, however, lies this proceeding before the Ethics Commission. The Commission's charge is to "hold a hearing [and] transmit the full record of the hearing to the Board of Supervisors with a recommendation as to whether the charges should be sustained." (Section 15.105(a).) The Board, in turn, votes whether to sustain the charges based on its review of the record the Ethics Commission is entrusted to create. Accordingly, the paramount goal of these proceedings is to ensure that the Board receives the full panoply of information it will need to render an informed judgment on the charges.

The Ethics Commission has experience and expertise in similar matters that it can bring to bear. An ethics hearing is no novelty to the Commission. To the contrary, one of the core functions of the Commission is to conduct administrative hearings and, on the basis of the resulting administrative record, decide whether a government official has committed an ethical violation. The Charter provides no indication that it expects anything else to happen here. Had the voters envisioned a criminal or quasi-criminal proceeding as the prelude to the Board's removal decision, they could have placed the prohibition on official misconduct into the San Francisco Police Code and charged its enforcement to the District Attorney in criminal court after a grand-jury indictment. Alternatively, the voters could have given the City Attorney the power and the duty to prosecute a cause of action for official misconduct in a civil proceeding, perhaps requiring a heightened burden of proof. Or, the voters could have assigned the hearing to the Ethics Commission and imposed a heightened voting requirement (as they did in the very next sentence in regard to the Board of Supervisors) or a more exacting burden of proof or special evidentiary rules. They did none of 1 these things. Rather, the Charter charges the Ethics Commission to conduct an administrative ethics 2 hearing in the fashion best suited to creating a complete evidentiary record for the Board and, on the 3 basis of its expertise in government ethics, its evaluation of the evidence, and its customary rules for 4 decision, to make a recommendation to the Board.

5 Thus, in deciding how to proceed in this official misconduct hearing, the Ethics Commission 6 need not—and should not—create a hearing process from whole cloth. The Commission already 7 has promulgated Regulations for Investigations and Enforcement Proceedings under its rule-making 8 power. See S.F. Charter § 15.102. Although those regulations apply to charges initiated by 9 Commission’s Executive Director under Charter section C3.699-13, and some of the procedural 10 steps described in those regulations (including rules governing dismissals, probable cause hearings, 11 and imposition of penalties) would not apply here, they provide a sound, well-tested framework for 12 the Commission’s handling of misconduct charges against City officials. The Commission initially 13 adopted the regulations in 1997, and has amended them several times. Further, the regulations 14 provide answers to most of the procedural questions that will likely arise during this official 15 misconduct proceeding. The regulations set processes for issuing subpoenas, receiving hearing 16 briefs, taking testimony and other evidence, and deliberating regarding alleged violations of ethics 17 laws. And, like many cases under the Commission’s usual enforcement proceedings, this official 18 misconduct hearing will require the Commission to assess whether a City official’s conduct is 19 compatible with his office and whether he has complied with mandatory ethical duties. Rather than 20 starting from scratch, the Commission should use its existing procedures to the extent possible here.
21 Section 15.102 gives the Commission the power to adopt rules and regulations to perform its duties, 22 and the Commission can exercise that power to adapt its existing procedures to this removal 23 hearing.

24 Contrary to Sheriff Mirkarimi’s assertion before the Commission on April 23, these 25 Commission proceedings bear no analogy to a criminal proceeding. Criminal proceedings have 26 already occurred for Sheriff Mirkarimi, and he is serving the sentence for his crime. There is no 27 further prospect of criminal penalties here, and the subject matter of the hearing is also distinct. A 28 criminal proceeding involves a judicial determination whether an individual’s conduct has fallen

1 below the bare minimum standard of conduct expected of every adult in a civilized society and 2 warranting criminal punishment of that individual, usually including a constraint on liberty. In 3 contrast, this removal hearing involves an administrative determination whether Sheriff Mirkarimi's 4 behavior has met the high standards expected of an officeholder, and no punishment will result; 5 rather, this hearing will conclude with a recommendation to the Board of Supervisors. And even if 6 nine of eleven Supervisors vote to sustain the charges, Sheriff Mirkarimi will not then lose his 7 liberty. Rather, as a result of a legislative finding of official misconduct, Sheriff Mirkarimi will be 8 removed so that public confidence in the office of Sheriff may be restored. The ultimate purpose of 9 enforcement proceedings like this one is to protect the public, not to punish an officeholder. Such 10 proceedings are not criminal in nature.

11 This official misconduct proceeding is no different in kind from other enforcement matters 12 that the Commission regularly handles under its existing regulations without engrafting criminal 13 procedures. Those enforcement cases have significant implications for the individuals involved—14 including potentially large financial penalties—and they often involve conduct that could be 15 charged criminally. Indeed, intentional violations of the Campaign Finance Reform Ordinance and 16 the Government Ethics Ordinance could be charged as crimes, and those laws can be enforced by 17 the District Attorney in addition to the Ethics Commission. (See Camp. & Gov'tal Conduct Code §§ 18 1.170(a), 3.242(a).) Notwithstanding the gravity of such enforcement proceedings, the Ethics 19 Commission need not, and does not, use criminal procedures in order to comport with due process.

20 The Charter contemplates that the Ethics Commission will fulfill the role it is uniquely able 21 to perform: conduct a full administrative hearing into charges that a public official has committed 22 an actionable ethical breach. Nothing in the Charter suggests that the hearing should be governed 23 by the rules of criminal procedure or that any aspect of the removal process is criminal in nature.
24 No grand jury indictment is required. There is no provision for criminal punishment. There is no 25 reference to an enhanced standard of proof. There is no requirement of unanimity for the 26 Commission's recommendation. Indeed, even the Board of Supervisors' actual decision to remove 27 need not be unanimous. In short, this is not a criminal proceeding, and it does not require criminal 28 procedures.

1 B. The Commission May Consider The Same Types Of Evidence And Measure
2 The Evidence Against The Same Standard As It Would In Other
3 Administrative Hearings.

4 1. The Commission should make its recommendation based on a 5 preponderance of the evidence.

6 The Commission’s enforcement regulations provide that the standard of proof in 7 enforcement matters is by a preponderance of the evidence. (Ethics Commission Regulations for 8 Investigations and Enforcement Proceedings §§ XII.A.2., B., C.) The burden of proof is on the 9 party seeking enforcement. (Id. § XII.A.2.) Those standards are appropriate to this official 10 misconduct hearing.

11 The preponderance of the evidence standard applies here, because this is a civil proceeding, 12 and the Charter does not specify a different standard. An administrative enforcement proceeding is 13 civil in nature. (See Hughes v. Bd. of Architectural Examiners (1998) 17 Cal.4th 763, 784-85.) In a 14 civil proceeding, the normal standard of proof is preponderance of the evidence. (Cal. Evid. Code § 15 115 [“Except as otherwise provided by law, the burden of proof requires proof by a preponderance 16 of the evidence”].) Thus, when an administrative proceeding does not specify a standard of proof, 17 courts hold that the preponderance of the evidence standard applies under Section 115 of the 18 Evidence Code. (See, e.g., Mann v. Dep’t of Motor Vehicles (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 312, 318; San 19 Benito Foods v. Veneman (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 1889, 1892-93.) That is the case here. And as 20 both parties agree, the burden of proof in this proceeding lies with the Mayor. (See Parker v. City 21 of Fountain Valley (1981) 127 Cal.App.3d 99, 113.)

22 2. With one exception, the Commission should use the administrative rules 23 of evidence to build the administrative record.

24 As the Commission does in enforcement proceedings, the Commission should rely on the 25 same type of evidence that is admissible under Ethics Commission Regulation § XII.A.3. That 26 provision incorporates the evidentiary rules applicable to hearings under the California 27 Administrative Procedures Act (APA), which provide both parties with the right to call witnesses, 28 cross-examine witnesses, and submit documentary evidence. (See Reg. § XII.A.3.; Cal. Gov. Code § 11513(a).)

1 The rules of evidence in administrative hearings are somewhat less stringent than in civil 2 disputes. The APA provides, in pertinent part:

3 The hearing need not be conducted according to technical rules relating to 4 evidence and witnesses, except as hereinafter provided. Any relevant 5 evidence shall be admitted if it is the sort of evidence on which responsible 6 persons are accustomed to rely in the conduct of serious affairs, regardless of 7 the existence of any common law or statutory rule which might make 8 improper the admission of the evidence over objection in civil actions.

9 (Cal. Gov. Code § 11513(c).) This relaxed rule of evidence, while less technical, still demands 10 evidence that most people would consider to be reliable. And while this rule permits the 11 consideration of hearsay, it does so within limits.

12 Hearsay evidence may be used for the purpose of supplementing or 13 explaining other evidence but over timely objection shall not be sufficient in 14 itself to support a finding unless it would be admissible over objection in civil 15 actions. An objection is timely if made before submission of the case or on 16 reconsideration.

17 (Cal. Gov't Code § 11513(d).) This, the Commission's findings may not be based on hearsay alone.

18 Of course, if evidence that would otherwise be hearsay falls within an exception to the 19 hearsay rule, then it is admissible and sufficient – just like in a civil proceeding. Thus, in the 20 present case, the Commission could rely on Ms. Lopez's videotaped January 1 statement as 21 sufficient evidence that Sheriff Mirkarimi committed the acts of domestic violence that caused the 22 injury described in her statement.⁴ (See People v. Mirkarimi (Feb. 27, 2012) Reporter's Transcript 23 at 21-30 [ruling that Ms. Lopez's videotaped statement admissible under Evidence Code section 24 1240]; see also, e.g., Melkonians v. Los Angeles County Civil Serv. Comm'n (2009) 174 25 Cal.App.4th 1159, 1170 [holding transcript of domestic violence victim's telephone call to sheriff's 26 department was admissible in administrative proceeding against law enforcement officer who 27 committed the domestic violence, because it was a spontaneous statement under Evid. Code § 28 1240].)

⁴ The Mayor has been forced to resort to court processes to obtain a copy of this videotape because Sheriff Mirkarimi has refused to provide the copy he obtained during criminal discovery. The only other copies of this videotape are being held on behalf of the Court, and the City has filed a motion for their release. (Cal. Penal Code § 1536.) As described below, we urge that this Court adopt discovery rules that would enable mutual discovery of relevant documentary evidence like this videotape.

1 There is one provision of the APA, however, that is not well-suited to this proceeding. The 2 APA permits testimony by written affidavit, subject to the right to cross-examine. (Gov. Code §
3 11514.) But if cross-examination is requested and a declarant does not appear, the APA nonetheless
4 allows the affidavit to be introduced as hearsay evidence, and given the weight of hearsay. (Id.) 5 Given the heightened need for public accountability in this matter, this rule should not apply: rather, 6 the declaration of a witness who refuses or fails to appear for requested cross-examination should 7 not be admitted or considered at all.⁵ The erosion of public confidence in the office of Sheriff will 8 not be restored if contested statements that have been shielded from challenge can be considered as 9 evidence of any weight.

10 3. The discovery rules under Ethics Commission Regulation § X.A. are 11 appropriate for this proceeding.

12 The Commission has adopted the discovery rules under the APA for its enforcement 13 proceedings. (Ethics Commission Reg. § X.A. [incorporating discovery rules under Gov. Code, 14 Title 2, div. 3, pt. 1, ch. 5].) We request that the Commission adopt those rules here as well in order 15 to speed hearing preparation and ensure a mutually informed presentation of the facts. The goal of 16 these proceedings is to establish a full factual record for the consideration of the Board. At the 17 April 23 meeting of the Commission, counsel for the Sheriff argued that the Mayor’s and City
18 Attorney’s investigations into his client’s conduct put the Sheriff at an information disadvantage 19 such that he was being forced to fight with one hand behind his back. As described in the 20 accompanying letter brief, what the Sheriff characterizes as an unfair advantage is simply the 21 normal process of investigating a case of this nature. The Mayor has acted diligently and fairly to 22 develop the evidence. But the Mayor certainly does believe that both parties should have the tools 23 they need to prepare their case. Adopting the administrative discovery rules would serve that goal.

26 ⁵ The Executive Director’s April 17, 2012 Memorandum to the Commission similarly 27 recommended a position stricter than the APA rule. (Mem. at p. 4 [“The declaration of any 28 individual who does not agree to testify in person under oath should be disregarded, or at a minimum its weight should be substantially diminished”].)

1 4. In these proceedings, the Charter directs the Commission to determine 2 its recommendation by simple majority vote.

3 The Charter does not specify the number of Commissioners who must vote to sustain the 4 official misconduct charges for that to be the Commission’s recommended course of action to the 5 Board, but that does not mean the Charter does not address this question. In fact, the Charter 6 expressly provides that a simple majority vote of Board or Commission members is sufficient to 7 take any action unless the Charter requires something more. “Unless otherwise required by this 8 Charter, the affirmative vote of a majority of the members shall be required for the approval of any 9 matter. . . .” (Charter § 4.104(b).) Here, although Section 15.105(a) explicitly requires a three-10 fourths supermajority of votes at the Board of Supervisors to sustain the charges and remove the 11 Sheriff, Section 15.105(a) is silent on the number of votes required at the Ethics Commission.
12 Accordingly, the simple majority rule of Section 4.104(b) controls.

13 There is nothing unusual about the Commission applying a simple majority requirement 14 here. For example, the Commission’s bylaws provide that “[t]he act of the majority of the members 15 of the Commission shall be the act of the full membership.” (Ethics Comm. Bylaws, Art. VII, § 1.) 16 For parliamentary matters, the Commission’s bylaws incorporate Robert’s Rules of Order, which 17 also state as a default rule that “basic principle of decision is that . . . a proposition must be adopted 18 by majority vote.” (Ethics Comm. Bylaws, Art. X § 1; Robert’s Rules of Order, Newly Revised, 19 10th Ed., Ch. I § 1.) And in enforcement matters, the Commission also follows the majority-vote 20 rule. The Commission’s enforcement regulations specify that “[t]he votes of at least three 21 Commissioners are required to find a violation of law” or to “impose orders and penalties for a 22 violation.” (Ethics Comm. Regs. §§ XII(B), (C).)⁶ Here, too, a majority vote will decide the 23 matter.

26 ⁶ In the exceptional cases where an applicable ordinance (such as the City’s Campaign 27 Finance Reform Ordinance) specifically requires more than three out of five votes, the Commission 28 follows that specific requirement. (See Camp. & Gov’tal Conduct Code § 1.103.)

1 II. THE OFFICIAL MISCONDUCT CHARGES AGAINST SHERIFF MIRKARIMI
2 ARE LEGALLY SOUND.

3 A. Sheriff Mirkarimi Can Be Removed For The Acts Of Misconduct He 4 Committed After His Election But Prior To His Swearing-In As Sheriff.

5 In the writ proceedings before the Superior Court, Sheriff Mirkarimi argued that he is only 6 subject to removal as Sheriff for acts of misconduct committed after being sworn into the office of 7 Sheriff. In his view, a public official cannot commit “official” misconduct unless he or she is “in 8 office,” and technically that requires taking the oath.

9 At the threshold, at least in the circumstances of this case, Sheriff Mirkarimi’s protestations 10 on the basis of timing are purely academic, because he is also charged with acts of official 11 misconduct that occurred after he took the oath of office on January 8, 2012. Of greatest 12 significance, of course, are the Sheriff’s admission of criminal guilt and his acceptance of a term of 13 three years’ probation, a year of domestic violence counseling, and other conditions that are 14 mandatory components of domestic violence probation—and which are entirely incompatible with 15 exercising the duties of Sheriff. Where there is an intervening period of denial between the act and 16 the eventual admission, the misconduct relates forward to the later date. (See, e.g., State v. McInnis 17 (Tex.Ct.App. 1979) 586 S.W.2d 890, 896;; Application of Baker, supra, 386 N.Y.S.2d at p. 316.)

18 But even the Sheriff’s misconduct truly were limited to the period before he took the oath of 19 office, his position would still lack all support in both law and logic. First and foremost, there is no 20 “in office” requirement in the Charter. That argument is just plain made up.⁷ Nor does the Charter

21 ⁷ Before the Superior Court, Sheriff Mirkarimi placed the entire weight of his oath-of-office 22 argument on extrapolations from dicta in a single case, Mazzola v. City and County of San 23 Francisco (1980) 112 Cal.App.3d 141, which offered a passing description of official misconduct
24 as “a violation or omission of a proscribed act committed while in office.” (Id. at p. 150 [emphases
25 added.] Ironically, the court only came up with even that much of a description in the first place 26 because there was no Charter definition at the time, and Mazzola had raised a vagueness challenge 27 based on that absence. The task of the court in responding that challenge was only to determine 28 whether official misconduct had a sufficiently specific meaning to be enforceable, not to determine its precise contours. After consulting a few different authorities from various jurisdictions that addressed a variety of different terms, the court offered its one-sentence summary and concluded that, in general, “official misconduct” had a sufficiently concrete meaning to survive a vagueness objection. (See id. at pp. 149-151.) In its survey, the court consulted Black’s Law Dictionary, which provided a definition of official misconduct that is virtually identical to the first prong of the current Charter definition, but the remaining authorities all addressed various forms of wrongdoing “in office.” As a result, it is as unsurprising as it is unremarkable that the Court included the phrase
“in office” in its own one-sentence summary of what it found. And, in any event, the voters added

1 limit official misconduct to acts by sworn officials in any other way. Section 15.105(e) defines 2 "official misconduct" as "[1] any wrongful behavior by a public officer in relation to the duties of 3 his or her office, willful in its character, ... or [2] conduct that falls below the standard of decency, 4 good faith and right action impliedly required of all public officers." Under either prong of the 5 definition, the misconduct must be attributable to a "public officer," but nothing in the language 6 suggests any distinction between a "sworn public officer" and an "elected but unsworn" public 7 officer. The definition makes perfect sense when read to encompass both: "Official misconduct 8 means any wrongful behavior by a [sworn or unsworn] public officer in relation to the duties of his 9 or her office, willful in its character, . . . or conduct that falls below the standard of decency, good 10 faith and right action impliedly required of all [sworn or unsworn] public officers."

11 And indeed, even setting aside his status as an incumbent Supervisor,⁸ Sheriff Mirkarimi 12 was already a public official in his capacity as Sheriff-Elect. The actions of a person elected to 13 public office but not yet been sworn into that office can constitute state action, taken under color of 14 law. (See International Ass'n of Machinists and Aerospace Workers v. Haley (D. South Carolina) 15 2011 WL 3586109, __ F.Supp.2d __, 191 L.R.R.M. (BNA) 2252 [statements of Governor-elect of 16 South Carolina, made after election but before she was sworn in, were "made under color of law"]

17 (footnote continued from previous page)

18 the Charter definition of official misconduct in 1995. The text of the Charter, not Mazzola, controls 19 this case.

20 ⁸ As a threshold matter, the Sheriff's argument that he cannot be removed because he was 21 not yet "in office" as Sheriff ignores the critical fact that he was in office as Supervisor. Nothing in 22 the language of Section 15.105(e) suggests that official misconduct in a prior term of office cannot 23 serve as the basis for removal from current office. And if there is a line to be drawn at a prior term, 24 existing case law in a number of jurisdictions makes the persuasive case that misconduct in a prior 25 term should only be unreachable if it was disclosed to the voters before the election and forgiven by 26 them at the polls. The principal rationale of what is alternatively known as the "prior term rule" and 27 the "voter forgiveness doctrine" is that reelection of the officer on the basis of full disclosure 28 amounts to voter condonation of his prior misconduct. (See, e.g., State v. Meneley (2001) 271 Kan.
355, 390; accord State v. McInnis, supra, 586 S.W.2d at pp. 893, 895 [under the "forgiveness doctrine," removal may not "be predicated on acts antedating the election . . . when such acts were a matter of public record or otherwise known to the electors and were sanctioned and approved or forgiven by them at the election" [internal quotations omitted].) This appears to be a particularly sound rule of public policy, protecting the will of the voters from override and protecting officials elected on the basis of honest disclosure from the specter of past misdeeds, while at the same time maintaining the public trust and confidence in elected officeholders by providing for removal of officers whose misconduct was not known at the time of the election.

1 for purposes of Section 1983 claim].) Similarly, the California Legislature expressly requires 2 unsworn elected officials to adhere to the same open meeting laws as sworn officials. (Cal.
3 Gov.Code § 54952.1.) In like fashion, the California Political Reform Act defines “elected officer” 4 to mean “any person who holds an elective office or has been elected to an elective office but has 5 not yet taken office.” (Cal. Gov.Code § 82020.) And as the Ethics Commission explained to then 6 Supervisor-Elect Mirkarimi in 2004 when he asked whether private donations for “transitional 7 expenses” were subject to contribution limits, “[t]he gathering of information and performance of 8 acts to ensure the continuity of a particular City office are duties that public officials are expected to 9 perform when assuming a new office.” (San Francisco Ethics Commission Advice Letter to Ross 10 Mirkarimi (Dec. 20, 2004) [emphasis added] available at 11 <http://www.sfethics.org/ethics/2004/12/advice---december-20-2004-letter.html>.)

12 Understanding Sheriff Mirkarimi to be a “public official” at all times after his election as 13 Sheriff is also consistent with the evidence that, at the time of the pre-oath misconduct, Sheriff 14 Mirkarimi was routinely acting in an official capacity as Sheriff-Elect. No mere private citizen 15 would seek or receive, as he did, numerous special briefings on the inner workings of the Sheriff’s 16 Department; no private citizen would be allowed to attend, as he did, confidential disciplinary 17 hearings of Sheriff’s Department personnel; and no private citizen would appear, as he did, as a 18 representative of the Sheriff’s Department at public events. Indeed, one such event took place on 19 the morning of January 4, when Sheriff Mirkarimi appeared in his public capacity as Sheriff-Elect 20 at the ceremony celebrating the demolition of the old jail. Later on the very same day, he allegedly 21 participated in efforts to encourage a witness to lie to the police and destroy evidence. It is difficult 22 to reconcile Sheriff Mirkarimi’s public appearance as an elected public official in the morning with 23 his contention that he was not a public official in the afternoon.

24 Sheriff Mirkarimi will look in vain for a Charter limitation immunizing his misconduct 25 based on its timing because, so long as he was a public officer at the time of the alleged act (which 26 he was, sometimes several times over), there simply is none. A number of other jurisdictions take a 27 similar approach, rejecting strict limitations in favor of greater public accountability, particularly 28 among members of the criminal justice system. (See, e.g., People v. Cherry (1989) 209 Cal.App.3d

1 1131, 1134-36 [explaining that California law permits "removal from office for willful misconduct 2 at any time within six years immediately preceding the presentation of an accusation"]; Matter of 3 Bailey, supra, 67 N.Y.2d at pp. 62-64 ["it would be an unseemly and unsound distinction with 4 respect to a matter affecting general character and fitness to immunize a Judge from his prior 5 misconduct as a Judge of lesser or higher rank']; In re Sarisohn (1966) 26 A.D.2d 388, 275 6 N.Y.S.2d 355, 390 [explaining that it is appropriate to remove a judge from office for "any 7 misconduct, even if committed prior to the taking of judicial office, as would disclose that the 8 Judge's retention in office is inconsistent with the fair, proper and wholesome administration of 9 justice."]; State v. Meneley, supra, 271 Kan. at p. 391 [denying Sheriff the benefit of prior term rule 10 because "[h]is duties as sheriff are an important and vital part of the criminal justice system and, as 11 such, it would be inappropriate".)]

12 Finally, even if the Ethics Commission is persuaded that some acts of public officers should 13 be shielded from public scrutiny for official misconduct, the Commission is barred from adding a 14 limitation on removal that does not exist in the Charter. The Charter is the "the city's constitution," 15 and can be amended only with voter approval. (See Woo v. Superior Court (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 16 967, 974.) Because the Charter was adopted by the voters, the Commission may not unilaterally 17 "prohibit[] what the initiative authorizes, or authorize[] what the initiative prohibits." (People v.
18 Superior Court (Pearson) (2010) 48 Cal.4th 564, 571.) "A statute enacted by voter initiative may 19 be changed only with the approval of the electorate," so the Commission cannot change the Charter 20 "by adding or taking from it some particular provision." (People v. Cooper (2002) 27 Cal.4th 38, 21 44.) Neither a pre-oath nor a prior-term exclusion is anywhere to be found in the Charter, and the 22 Commission may not properly add either one.

23 B. The Charter Requires, And The Allegations Demonstrate, A Nexus Between 24 The Alleged Acts And The Duties Or Integrity Of Office.

25 The Charter does not require that the official misconduct relate to Mr. Mirkarimi's duties as 26 Sheriff. The definition of official misconduct in Section 15.105(e) has two different prongs: (1) 27 "any wrongful behavior by a public officer in relation to the duties of his or her office, willful in its 28

1 character"⁹ and (2) "conduct that falls below the standard of decency, good faith and right action 2 impliedly required of all public officers." (Emphasis added.) For charges pressed under the first 3 prong, the Charter requires a showing that Mr. Mirkarimi's misconduct has a relationship to his 4 duties as Sheriff and/or (until January 8) as Supervisor. For charges pressed under the second 5 prong, the misconduct need not be related to particular duties of office, but instead to the commonly 6 accepted standards of professional conduct for a sheriff and/or a member of a legislative body. (See 7 Cranston v. City of Richmond (1985) 40 Cal.3d 755, 769 [explaining that laws prohibiting 8 "immoral" or "unprofessional" or "unbecoming" conduct, however phrased, even when directed to a 9 broad and varied group, implicitly refer to the commonly accepted understanding of unprofessional 10 conduct among others in the same profession as the person challenging the law].) Either way, 11 whether the relationship is to the duties of office or to the commonly accepted standards of ethical 12 conduct associated with his office, the Charter requires the alleged acts of official misconduct to 13 bear a demonstrable nexus to Mr. Mirkarimi's public position.

14 Even though a number of different types of relationships would satisfy the Charter's nexus 15 requirement, the evidence in this case will establish an ample relationship between the Sheriff's 16 misconduct and his specific duties as Sheriff. Under both state and local law, a sheriff has a duty to 17 enforce the criminal laws; Sheriff Mirkarimi committed a serious crime. A sheriff is the county jail-18 keeper; Sheriff Mirkarimi falsely imprisoned his wife. A sheriff is charged to preserve the peace, 19 prevent crime and rehabilitate offenders; Sheriff Mirkarimi breached the peace, committed a crime 20 and became an offender. A sheriff arrests and brings before a magistrate all persons who commit a 21 public offense; Sheriff Mirkarimi was arrested and arraigned. A sheriff has the duty to investigate 22 public offenses; Sheriff Mirkarimi sat by as his campaign manager and his wife tried to tamper with 23 an investigation. A sheriff may grant a license to carry a concealed weapon; Sheriff Mirkarimi is 24 not allowed to carry a firearm. A sheriff tries to rehabilitate domestic abusers; Sheriff Mirkarimi is 25 a domestic abuser required to attend rehabilitation. The list goes on.

26 ⁹ Note that there is no requirement under the Charter that the public officer must have 27 abused the powers of his office to have committed official misconduct. Any concern that official 28 misconduct is limited to abuse of office under the Charter is unfounded.

1 C. Even If The Commission Could Properly Conclude—And It Cannot—That The 2 Official Misconduct Charges Cannot Be Sustained As A Matter Of Law, It Still 3 Must Hold A Hearing.

4 The Commission does not have the authority to dismiss these removal proceedings even if it 5 concludes that the charges are legally flawed (which they are not). Under Charter Section 6 15.105(a), the Ethics Commission “shall hold a hearing” and “shall transmit the full record of the 7 hearing to the Board of Supervisors with a recommendation as to whether the charges should be 8 sustained.” The word “shall” creates a mandatory duty. (In re Luis B. (2006) 142 Cal. App. 4th 9 1117, 1123.) The Commission cannot discharge its mandatory duty to hold a hearing if it dismisses 10 the misconduct charges. It can recommend that the official misconduct charges not be sustained, 11 but no more. An administrative agency may only exercise “ ‘such powers as have been conferred 12 on them, expressly or by implication, by constitution or statute.’ ” (City and County of San 13 Francisco v. Padilla (1972) 23 Cal. App. 3d 388, 400 [quoting Ferdig v. State Personnel Bd. (1969) 14 71 Cal.2d 96, 103].) While the Charter grants the Commission a critical role in these proceedings, the Charter does not grant it the power to dismiss.

15 III. EVEN THOUGH THE SHERIFF'S UNDISPUTED GUILTY PLEA AND AGREED- 16 TO SENTENCE ARE SUFFICIENT PROOF OF OFFICIAL MISCONDUCT, THE 17 COMMISSION STILL MUST HOLD A FULL EVIDENTIARY HEARING ON THE 18 ENTIRETY OF THE CHARGES.

19 Likewise, for all of the reasons just stated, while the undisputed facts of Sheriff Mirkarimi’s 20 guilty plea and criminal sentence are more than enough to satisfy either prong of the official 21 misconduct definition in Section 15.105(e), that does not change the course of the required 22 proceedings. The Commission still must hold a hearing and create a full record on all the charges.
(See Discussion Section II.C, supra.)

23 CONCLUSION

24 For the foregoing reasons, the Mayor respectfully requests that the Ethics Commission hold 25 the administrative hearing contemplated by the Charter and create a full evidentiary record to 26 transmit to the Board. As in all other administrative hearings, Commissioners should evaluate the 27 charges on the basis of the preponderance of the evidence. And as directed by the Charter, the 28

1 Commission should reach its decision whether to sustain the charges by means of a simple majority 2 vote.
