Bruce Y. Lai

Managing Director at the Design Innovation Factory

Currently, Bruce Lai is the Chief Strategy Officer for Paul C. Hudson Consulting, a Los Angeles-based firm that assists nonprofit organizations in strategic restructuring for greater social impact. He is also leading strategy and business development at backCODE, a Pasadena-based serious educational games company.

Bruce was formerly Vice President of Strategy, @School Division, at ePals, an education media company where he focused on product vision and strategic sales and marketing to the 100 largest school systems in the country. He has served both as the Executive Director for School Technology Strategy and Chief of Staff at the NYC DOE's Office of the Chief Information Officer. In this role, he raised $40 million for NYC Connected Learning and NYC Connected Foundations programs, which served approximately 25,000 students across over 110 schools. In this position, he also helped lead a 500+ staff division serving the technological needs across the 1,700+ schools in NYC DOE. Previously, Bruce served as Chief of Staff to NYC Council Member Gale Brewer, who was recently elected to the office of the Manhattan Borough President. During their tenure together, they led the Council's efforts to promote innovative public/private solutions to bridging the digital divide to enhance economic and social opportunity for all New Yorkers through technology.

Mr. Lai has served on several nonprofit Boards and currently is in his third year as the Board Chair of Public Health Foundation Enterprises (PHFE), a Los Angeles-based national public health fiscal sponsor. In this capacity, he oversees an $8 million operational budget and $90 million in program revenues. He also advises the CEO of Charity Navigator, the nation's largest and most-utilized evaluator of charities, on business strategy and strategic partnerships. Mr. Lai graduated from Williams College and holds a master's degree in public policy from the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University.
